THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

MESSAGE TO THE NATIONAL MODEL UNITED NATIONS
 NEW YORK CONFERENCE 2016
New York, 20-24 March 2016 and 27-31 March 2016

Thank you for taking part in this Model United Nations and for your commitment to greater global understanding.

You gather at a moment of challenge and opportunity for the human family.

The United Nations marked its 70th anniversary in 2015 by taking landmark steps to advance sustainable development and combat climate change.

In December, governments came together to sign the Paris Agreement on Climate Change.

Three months earlier, all 193 Member States of the United Nations agreed on the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development to end poverty and build a life of dignity for all on a healthy planet. The 17 Sustainable Development Goals are transformative and universal, and they will demand action from all partners, including young people.

I am also pleased that the Security Council recently passed a landmark resolution on Youth, Peace and Security. That means young peacebuilders have the full support of the United Nations. Young people have the greatest stake in the future so you must have a voice in building it.

These agreements open up promising new horizons for our common progress. At the same time, our gains and hopes are threatened by the conflicts, exploitation and despair that characterize much of today's global landscape. Violent extremists are carrying out appalling crimes. Fighting is forcing people from their homes and destroying the lives of millions of young people like you. Some countries are putting up new barriers, both physical and legal, to prevent refugees from entering. Some people are stoking fear and hatred. Huge sums of money continue to be squandered on weapons of war, while life-saving humanitarian programmes struggle for resources.

The United Nations stands with the vulnerable. Every day, we strive to make a difference: delivering food; providing clean water and healthcare; promoting equal rights; advancing the empowerment of women and girls; bringing enemies together around a peace table; helping countries build effective institutions and move towards prosperity and stability.

By taking part in this Model United Nations, you are demonstrating your commitment to peace, justice, human rights and human dignity. I hope this Conference will continue to inspire you to be a lifelong global citizen.

Ban Ki-moon

Volunteer with NMUN

Join our volunteer staff - committed to the ideals of the United Nations!

We seek enthusiastic NMUN alumni from around the globe, who are willing to help organize the world's largest university-level simulation of the United Nations. Many of our volunteer staff members are current undergraduate or graduate students.

We need volunteers with expertise in research, committee facilitation, and conference organization.

You will build skills in facilitation of debate, conflict resolution, and customer service while learning alongside delegates about global issues. You will also form lifelong friendships with other volunteers.

We offer in-depth training, provide hotel accommodations, and help pay for most travel expenses.

THE 2016 NATIONAL MODEL UNITED NATIONS

SPONSORED BY THE NATIONAL COLLEGIATE CONFERENCE ASSOCIATION

New York City, 20 - 24 March and 27 - 31 March

Dear Delegates, Faculty Advisors, Guests, and Friends:

UN Secretary-General Ban Ki-moon opened the most recent General Assembly Session stating that it must be one of "compassion, prevention and, above all, action." It is in this same spirit that we are honored to welcome you to the 2016 National Model United Nations New York (NMUN•NY) Conference. Together, over the next two weeks, more than 5,000 students from all over the world will come to New York City to participate in NMUN. Though our conference is a simulation, we believe that students will gain both a deeper understanding of the issues and solutions before the international community and a firm commitment to achieving the goals of the United Nations.

Despite the Sustainable Development Goals being officially adopted in 2015, the real work begins in 2016 to ensure ideas become action, and hope becomes change. None of this will be easy. Global peace today requires our courage to overcome depleted resources, inaction, and apathy; it asks us to embrace our differences, and not allow fear and extremism to overshadow our compassion for one another. With this in mind, the theme of this year's conference is "Courage for Peace, Compassion in Action."

We hope that this theme informs your personal experience at the conference: it takes courage to speak up in committee, courage to disagree, and compassion to learn from fellow delegates. Yet, working together, you can collaborate, debate, and compromise to find actual solutions to actual problems. Your exchange of ideas and solutions to global issues will reflect the conscious effort people make every day to act courageously and compassionately for change. By doing this, you are empowering yourself and each other to transform our global community, and you are inspiring the global community with your ideas.

Our NMUN volunteer staff and members of the National Collegiate Conference Association are eager to facilitate these discussions and are truly passionate about education, the work of the UN, and our generation's potential to enact change. For these reasons, we cannot wait to see all your hard work come to fruition. Thank you for your participation at NMUN•NY 2016.

Sincerely,

Karen J. Vogel Faculty Seminar: European Response to the Refugee Crisis

European nations are divided over how to address the growing number of people entering Europe in search of safety and a better life. Many are seeking a unified European solution to the issue. Some EU-members have already made clear they are not willing to accept any refugees and are instead calling for increased efforts to address the root causes of the problem. Join Prof. Thomas Weiler for a discussion of both the German and broader European responses.

OPPORTUNITY FAIR

Tuesday, 22 & 29 March; 5:00 pm - 6:30 pm
Sheraton New York Hotel, 2nd Floor, Central Park

A unique opportunity to visit with representatives from many organizations with international interests. Participants are listed on p. 36.

TUESDAY, 22 / 29 MARCH; 4:00 pm - 2nd Floor Sheraton

Metropolitan East

Media: A Key International Stakeholder

Do you think that BuzzFeed and Last Week Tonight can be trusted news sources on politics and international affairs? Do you believe that Fox News, CBS, NBC, and Al Jazeera are reporting about the same world? Attend this panel if you're interested in the role media actually plays in today's international affairs. Experienced journalists will provide first-hand insights into their daily work at the UN and in the world. Discover and discuss the responsibilities and impact of today's newsmakers. Organized by Pamela Falk, CBS News UN Correspondent and Robert Windrem, NBC News.

Metropolitan West

The Humanitarian Effect of Conflict: Refugees, Mobility, and Migration (A)

There are over 13 million refugees and over 38 million internally-displaced persons. While war is often discussed, the plight of those most directly affected by conflict is often forgotten. Come and learn about the challenges that refugees often face after making the difficult decision to leave their home.

Is Extremism Defining the International Agenda? (B)

Recent attacks in various countries, including Lebanon, France, Yemen, Tunisia, Egypt, Turkey and the US, have shown extremism is the new enemy in the international agenda. How do we combat it? Learn how the international community can face this challenge. Speakers include H.E. Ufuk Gokcen, Permanent Observer, Organization of Islamic Cooperation Mission to the United Nations; and Carla De Ycaza, Center for Global Affairs, New York University.

Empire West

An Insider's Guide to the UN

Do you want to know details on how the real UN works? News correspondent Linda Fasulo has insider information on the structure and what it's like to work with the UN. She has written a book that is considered a guide to this organization and includes interesting facts and insights from US and other countries' diplomats. Attend this panel organized by the author.

Empire East

Climate Change and the SDGs (A)

The Paris Agreement to help combat climate change and the creation of the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) are two areas in the forefront of the international community's agenda. In fact, many of the SDGs relate to climate change, and climate change will directly affect progress towards completing the SDGs. Come learn more from experts on a panel chaired by Dr. Pamela Chasek, Executive Editor, Earth Negotiations Bulletin.

Social Entrepreneurship: Innovation for Society (B)

As civil society faces new challenges around the world, governments, NGOs and traditional businesses are not the only respondents as social enterprises demonstrate overwhelming results. Discover how a new generation of entrepreneurs is reshaping the way we think about business. Distinguished Speakers: Jordan Kassalow, Founder and Co-Chairman, VisionSpring; and Boris Bulayev, Co-Founder and Executive Director, Educate!.

Here we recognize those institutions for which participation is a school tradition. The long-term support of these schools reflects the hard work and dedication of faculty advisors, students, and administrators. It shows commitment to experiential learning opportunities like NMUN as well as the ideals embodied by the United Nations. We are greatly indebted to them for their leadership in continuing to enhance the conference. We look forward to welcoming more schools to this list in the future as new institutions start a NMUN tradition and returning schools continue to build a legacy.

“You all naturally have very different experiences. But we share the same spirit of global citizenship. Executive Director Michael Eaton has said that you will leave Model UN with ‘the insights needed to become better global citizens and the next generation of international leaders.’ I fully agree. I would add that you are not just leaders of the future – you can start to lead right now. “

DELEGATES

While participating in the National Model UN conference, delegates have a responsibility to always maintain the highest level of professionalism and diplomacy. Conference staff, faculty advisors, fellow delegates, speakers, as well as non-NMUN hotel guests should be treated with the highest level of courtesy and respect, including on social media and in electronic communications. Professionalism in speech, actions, and appearance by delegates is a requirement of this conference, and necessary to its educational mission. It is expected that all delegates will respect the property of the United Nations, our host hotels, and any other facilities used by our conferences.

NMUN reserves the right to restrict future registration for any participant or school, whose delegates or faculty advisors are not able to uphold their responsibility to the conference's code of conduct.

Delegates are expected to:

- Remain "in character" by consistently advocating the interests and representing the policies of the country assigned. To act "in character" also entails displaying respect for the opinions and ideas of fellow delegates, even if these opinions and ideas conflict with a given delegate's own country's priorities.
- Collaborate with fellow delegates when possible.
- Be courteous and professional at all times, including on social media and in electronic communications.
- Attend all committee sessions.
- Avoid the consumption of alcohol and other drugs in committee sessions. Any issues related to illicit drugs will be immediately directed to the attention of local authorities.

Delegates who disrupt committee sessions or create problems in the hotel may be barred from further participation in the conference.

Delegates are encouraged to enjoy the variety of activities available at our conference venues. Please bear in mind, however, the purpose of being here is participation in NMUN and failure to attend committee sessions may result in your withdrawal from the conference.

If you are going to drink, please drink responsibly. Excessive alcohol consumption should be avoided. The US legal drinking age is 21.

FACULTY ADVISORS

The role of faculty advisors, while at the conference, is to make all efforts to see that their students maintain a positive and professional approach to the conference. The educational quality of the conference is primarily dependent on the active and professional participation of all delegates. Faculty advisors can ensure this by monitoring the attendance of their students at committee meetings and helping them understand the skills of diplomacy as practiced at National Model United Nations. Faculty advisors must maintain the highest level of professionalism toward all conference participants and staff.

During the conference, faculty advisors are encouraged to advise students on specific questions such as a state's policy or issues of international law, but must not participate in the actual writing of resolutions or caucusing activities. NMUN allows students an opportunity to demonstrate their preparation and research skills. While faculty advisors are encouraged to observe their students from the back of committee rooms, participation in the committee process must be left to the student delegates and the conference staff.

Faculty Advisors are expected to:

- Provide leadership to their delegates and to other delegations by serving as information resources when appropriate.
- Respond to questions and concerns without interfering with the work of the committees or the deliberations of delegates, whether in formal session or in caucus.
- Refrain from using academic credit and grading policies that force participation beyond that country's normal position in the UN.
- Remind their delegates of the educational purpose of the simulation. Awards should not be a delegation's main emphasis.
- Attend and participate in faculty advisors meetings.
- Offer suggestions and assistance to new faculty advisors.

HEAD DELEGATES

Head delegates provide leadership to their delegates and to other delegations by serving as information resources. They should attend and participate in head delegate meetings. Head delegates may be assigned to a committee or may serve solely in an advisory role. Head delegates assigned to a committee should observe the delegate code of conduct. Those not assigned to a particular committee should interact with delegates as would a faculty advisor.

DRESS CODE

All clothing must adhere to guidelines that portray professionalism and modesty. If a delegate's attire is deemed inappropriate by NMUN staff, the delegate will be asked to leave the session and return with appropriate attire.

- Standard delegate attire for the conference is business jacket, slacks/skirt, dress shirt (with tie for men) and dress shoes.
- Dress sweaters, shorts, ball caps, jeans, sneakers and sunglasses are considered too casual. Clothes that expose excessive bare skin or are otherwise revealing are inappropriate.
- It is not appropriate for delegates to display any national symbols such as flags, pins, crests, etc. on their person during sessions. UN symbols are acceptable.

Western business dress is preferred. Traditional dress is only permitted for international delegates in whose native countries "professional business dress" includes traditional cultural dress. NMUN will not tolerate any delegate's attempt to portray a "character" using traditional cultural attire as costume.

Faculty advisors/team leaders, guests, and volunteer staff serve as role models for delegates. Thus they are required to dress in western business attire while participating in scheduled conference sessions.

SEXUAL HARASSMENT / DISCRIMINATION

It is the intention of the NCCA that the environment of National Model United Nations supports our educational goal. The organizers will not tolerate any instances of discrimination based on race, color, sex, sexual orientation, national origin, religion, age or disability.

If any delegate, staff or faculty advisor believes they have encountered discrimination, which results in a hostile working environment or disparate treatment, they must bring it to the attention of the Secretary-General of the conference. In the event that this is not possible, they must bring it to the attention of the organizers. The NCCA will investigate the merits of the allegations, interviewing all parties involved.

Based on the findings, organizers may:

- take no action
- issue a verbal reprimand
- separate the individual from the conference
- implement any other action deemed appropriate

See nmun.org/policies_codes.html for additional information including safety tips and procedures for addressing violations.

Delegation Awards

National Model United Nations has established criteria for evaluating delegate performance. Each element is equally important to the overall awards determination process. All committees are weighted equally, and delegations are rated on a mathematical formula in relation to the total number of committees represented by the individual Member State.

Areas of evaluation are:

- Remaining in character – defined as advocating your assigned country's position in a manner consistent with economic, social and geopolitical constraints.
- Participating in committee – evaluated both during formal sessions and caucusing.
- Proper use of the rules of procedure – NMUN uses the rules of procedure to facilitate effective workings of committee and debate.

NMUN traces its beginnings to the Model League of Nations. Since 1968, the National Collegiate Conference Association (NCCA) has sponsored NMUN, an experience-based educational program that furthers the understanding of the United Nations and contemporary international problems.

NMUN is the world's largest Model UN simulation. The 2016 NY conference will bring together more than 5,500 delegates from six continents to New York City. This conference includes 21 committees as well as two Additional Security Councils. NMUN offers a unique opportunity for students to better understand the inner workings of the United Nations while building skills in diplomacy and compromise. College and university students from all over the world work feverishly to propose resolutions addressing regional conflicts, peacekeeping, human rights, women and children, economic and social development, and the environment.

A diverse group of informed participants is given a forum in which to discuss global concerns in a context that closely parallels the real world. The NMUN Conference is one of the most effective tools for teaching students the dynamics of multilateral diplomacy and international relations.

NMUN will hold upcoming conferences in New York City; Washington, DC; Kobe, Japan; and the Galapagos Islands. Since 2008, international simulations have been held in China, Ecuador, the Czech Republic, France, the Republic of Korea, and Italy. Thank you to our partner organizations for their vision and support of our mission. We look forward to future conference partnerships and welcome your inquiry into potential opportunities.

NCCA is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit, educational organization. We are also a Non-Governmental Organization associated with the United Nations Department of Public Information, and a United Nations Academic Impact Member.

GLOBAL CITIZEN

TO UNDERSTAND GLOBAL ISSUES, YOU MUST BECOME PART OF THEM.

The growing influences of new world powers, emerging states and non-state actors, socioeconomic transformation, and cross-border crises have reshaped the field of global affairs. Those pursuing careers in this area must not only study the issues, they must be deeply involved in them. The MS in Global Affairs, offered by the NYU School of Professional Studies Center for Global Affairs, positions you in the heart of the international community of NYC, providing you with the contextual perspectives you need to become an effective problem solver and innovator. Global field intensives, exposure to renowned expert practitioners, and challenging projects form the basis of an education that allows you to live what you learn—anticipating the next global challenge.

- University of St.Gallen (HSG) – ranked No 1 by the Financial Times: Students benefit from St.Gallen's acknowledged expertise in economics and business.
- MIA – a truly interdisciplinary curriculum: Courses in political science, economics, law, and management prepare students for an international career in the public, private, and nonprofit sectors.
- MIA – an international degree: Students may pursue the MIA Programme either in English or in German. Exchange semesters and internships provide ample international exposure.
- Dual Degrees: Programmes with Sciences Po, The Fletcher School, Yonsei Graduate School or Universidad de los Andes offer professional qualifications with a genuine cross-border reach.
