THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

MESSAGE TO THE NATIONAL MODEL UNITED NATIONS WASHINGTON, D.C.
CONFERENCE (NMUN•DC)
Washington, D.C., 9-11 November 2018

Thank you for taking part in the Model United Nations. I appreciate your commitment to our global mission of peace, sustainable development and human rights.

Our world today enjoys remarkable opportunities to advance common progress. The 17 Sustainable Development Goals are our blueprint for dignity, prosperity and a healthy planet.

But “we the peoples” also face many complex challenges. Armed conflicts have deepened. Global anxieties about nuclear weapons are the highest since the Cold War. Climate change is moving faster than we are. Inequality and nationalism are on the rise, while trust and solidarity are on the decline.

These problems and challenges are increasingly global – and increasingly grave.

We need less hatred, more dialogue and deeper international cooperation. Multilateralism is more important than ever. Empowering the world’s young people is also an imperative.

We must do more to enable young people to shape the decisions affecting their lives. Your potential is the world’s potential. As you stand up for our shared values, the United Nations stands with you.

Please accept my best wishes for a successful Model United Nations Conference.

António Guterres

Dear Honorable Delegates, Faculty Advisors, and Friends,

It is my great pleasure to welcome you to the 2018 NMUN•DC Conference. On behalf of the Deputy Secretary-General, the volunteer staff, the National Model United Nations Board, and the Osgood Center, I thank you for joining us for this simulation in Washington, DC. We sincerely hope that this exciting weekend will be an enriching experience for you. We challenge you to fully embrace the diplomatic debates and solution-oriented negotiations that will occur across delegations and committee rooms throughout the weekend.

My introduction to NMUN exposed me to how much of the world I was unfamiliar with. Our purpose this weekend is education and we are fortunate to experience this opportunity. While preparing the Sustainable Development Goals (SDG), including SDG 4: Quality Education, the global community estimated that 617 million youths worldwide lack basic mathematics and literacy skills and 57 million primary age children remain out of school with half of these primary-aged children living in areas of conflict. While the number of tertiary education participants has doubled since 2000, to roughly 207 million students worldwide, the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization recently published a study stating that for those aged 25-29 years, less than 1% of the world's poorest countries and students have completed four years of higher education. The late Kofi Annan said in a 1997 press release, "Literacy is a bridge from misery to hope. It is a tool for daily life in modern society. It is a bulwark against poverty and a building block of development, an essential complement to investments in roads, dams, clinics, and factories." Annan elaborated, "Literacy is a platform for democratization, and a vehicle for the promotion of cultural and national identity. Especially for girls and women, it is an agent of family health and nutrition. For everyone, everywhere, literacy is, along with education in general, a basic human right."

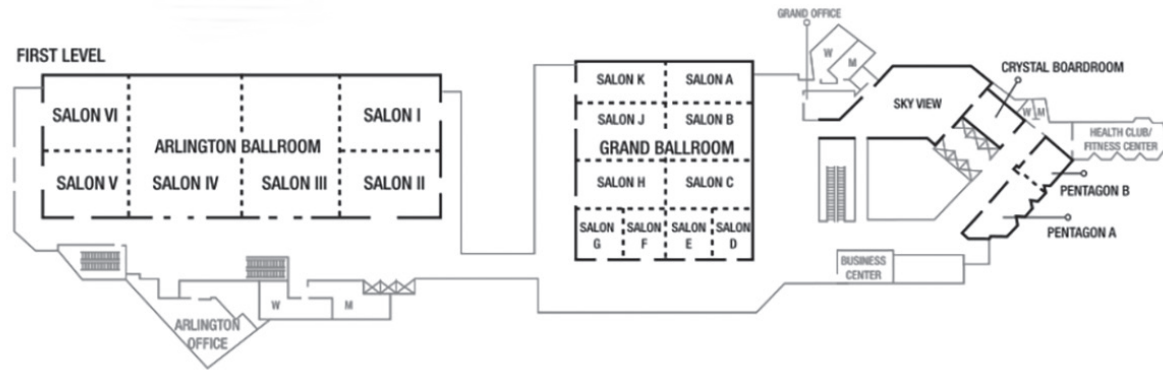

The world has lost a few advocates for literacy in 2018. The late U.S. First Lady Barbara Bush said, "If we don't give everyone the ability to simply read and write, then we aren't giving everyone an equal chance to succeed." This explains simply the significant inequality in the access and quality of education, not just in the United States of America, but across our global community. I was the first of my extended family to attend university. The experience of that education provided me the incredible opportunity to participate in and become part of the NMUN family. Through my higher education platform and participation in NMUN I have been empowered and have found a sense of purpose. The global community has increasingly focused its attention on education in terms of human rights and in social and cultural growth. These values are shared within and amongst the NMUN family of conferences. I challenge you to keep these goals in mind as you prepare to speak with your fellow delegates on the topics you've so diligently prepared to address. You will spend this weekend personifying the political beliefs and actions of your assigned Member States. However, we hope that your participation this weekend will spark your passion to go beyond this conference and that you will continue addressing the most significant issues of our time in your everyday life and beyond. The future is in our hands. We hope that you will leave this weekend empowered to have a boldly positive impact in your local and global communities no matter your age or status through influencing policy, contributing to peaceful conflict resolution, promoting sustainability, and through acting with integrity.

Sincerely,

Angela Shively
Secretary-General, NMUN•DC 2018

Recognizing Commitment

Here we recognize those institutions that have attended NMUN•DC for a decade or more. We appreciate your commitment to our experiential learning opportunities and the ideals of the UN. We look forward to adding more institutions to this list as new and returning schools create their own NMUN tradition. Schools without () are located in the United States.

Expectations of Conduct

Our intention is to create an environment at National Model United Nations (NMUN) that supports our educational mission. Professionalism in speech, actions, and appearance by all participants (delegates, head delegates, faculty, delegation leaders, guests, secretariat, staff, and board members) is a requirement of all NMUN conferences. These guidelines are provided to help establish clear expectations.

Concerns about individual behavior in committee should first be addressed to the volunteer staff in committee. They may refer larger concerns, such as sexual harassment or discrimination issues, to conference organizers. Organizers may also be contacted directly through conference services staff.

NMUN reserves the right to bar violators from further participation and/or restrict future registration for any participant or school unable to uphold their responsibility to the conference's expectations.

Everyone

- Treat everyone, including non-NMUN hotel guests, with the highest level of courtesy and respect at all times, including on social media and in electronic communications.
- Enjoy the variety of activities available at our conference venues. Please bear in mind, however, that the purpose of being here is participation in NMUN.
- Disruption of committee sessions or causing problems in the hotel or other facilities will not be tolerated.
- Respect academic integrity; plagiarism will not be tolerated.
- Alcohol is not allowed in any of our committee sessions. If you are going to drink, please drink responsibly. Excessive alcohol consumption should be avoided. The U.S. legal drinking age is 21.
- Possession or use of illicit drugs is prohibited at all times. Any issues related to illicit drugs may be directed to the attention of local authorities.
- Follow the Dress Code while attending conference events.
- Respect the property of the United Nations, our host hotels, and any other facilities used. Keep in mind that our facility partners have separate policies that include the potential for removal from their properties.

Delegates

- Remain in character by consistently advocating the interests and representing the policies of the country assigned. To act in character also entails displaying respect for the opinions and ideas of fellow delegates, even if these opinions and ideas conflict with a given delegate's own country's priorities.
- Collaborate with fellow delegates whenever possible.

Head Delegates

- If assigned to a committee, follow the delegates expectations. If serving solely in an advisory role, follow the faculty expectations.
- Attend and participate in head delegates meetings.

Faculty Advisors

- Make efforts to ensure that students maintain a positive and professional approach to the conference and help them understand the skills of diplomacy as practiced at NMUN.
- Serve as information resources when appropriate, but do not participate in the actual writing of resolutions or caucusing activities; participation in the committee process must be left to the student delegates and the conference volunteer staff.
- Quietly observe your students from the back of committee rooms.
- Refrain from using academic credit and grading policies that force participation beyond a country's normal position in the UN; awards should not be a delegation's main emphasis.
- Attend and participate in any faculty advisors meetings.

Guests

- Guests are required to adhere to the same expectations as all other conference attendees.
- Guests serve as observers.
- Guests may not be enrolled university students or faculty advisors and do not provide any support to a delegation. A guest is typically a school official, spouse/partner of a faculty advisor, or a funder who is interested in learning about NMUN.

Sexual Harassment & Discrimination

Sexual harassment or discrimination based on race, gender, sexual orientation, national origin, religion, age, or disability is not acceptable. Such acts are incompatible with NMUN's educational mission and are a violation of our Conduct Expectations. Violators may be expelled from the conference without compensation. General descriptions of behavior that may be considered sexual harassment can be found at: <https://sapac.umich.edu/article/63>.

Anyone who believes they have seen or encountered sexual harassment or discrimination should bring it to NMUN's attention. We will investigate the merits of the allegations and respond appropriately. Outcomes may include taking no action, issuing a verbal reprimand, separating individuals from the conference, or any other action deemed appropriate.

Safety & Security

Your safety and security are your personal responsibility. Take full advantage of this unique opportunity in a responsible manner. Please do not leave your computer or other personal electronic devices unattended. Remove conference badges when leaving the hotel. Refrain from any sort of substance abuse. Use common sense.

Dress Code

All clothing must adhere to guidelines that portray professionalism and modesty. If your attire is deemed inappropriate by NMUN, you will be asked to leave the session and return with appropriate attire.

- Standard attire for the conference is business jacket, slacks/skirt, dress shirt (with tie for men), and dress shoes.
- Dress sweaters, shorts, ball caps, jeans, sneakers, and sunglasses are considered too casual. Clothes that expose excessive bare skin, reveal undergarments, or are otherwise revealing are inappropriate.
- It is not appropriate to display any national symbols such as flags, pins, crests, etc. on your person during sessions. UN symbols are acceptable.
- Western business dress is preferred. Traditional dress is permitted only for international delegations in whose native countries professional business dress includes traditional cultural dress. NMUN will not tolerate any attempt to portray a character using traditional cultural attire as a costume.

Faculty advisors, delegation leaders, guests, and volunteer staff serve as role models for delegates. Thus they are required to dress in western business attire while participating in scheduled conference sessions.

Awards Criteria

National Model United Nations (NMUN) has established criteria for evaluating delegate performance. Each element is equally important to the overall awards determination process. All committees are weighted equally, and delegations are rated on a mathematical formula in relation to the total number of committees represented by the individual member state.

Areas of evaluation are:

- Remaining in character - defined as advocating your assigned country's position in a manner consistent with economic, social and geopolitical constraints.
- Participating in committee - evaluated both during formal sessions and caucusing.
- Proper use of the rules of procedure - NMUN uses the rules of procedure to facilitate effective workings of committee and debate.

STUDY WITH PURPOSE

“It’s never been more important to study international relations at a school that understands that truth is elusive but real; that history cannot be rewritten to suit today’s preferences; that tradeoffs are inescapable facts of economic life; and that leaders are those who inspire, not those who inflame.”
